Shaft / blade combinations.

It has the last couple of months circulated a rumour in the Floorball business. The rumour says that it is legal to change shafts / blades between different brands but that is just a rumour. It has never been legal and it is still not legal to change shafts / blades between different brands

An exception to the rule is when a company is manufacturing more than one brand (e.g. Christian – Canadian) but in such a case the combinations are also certified.

All legal combinations of shafts / blades can be found in the database for certified equipment on our homepage.
